

WELCOME TO PROJECT GREEN LIGHT

An ECO Energy Conservation Program

Dear new Project Green Light member,

We are excited about having you join us in this historic community-wide endeavor to journey together on the road of energy conservation. For years, many of us have taken steps to become better stewards of creation by becoming more mindful of our Earth's limited resources. Although individual acts of stewardship are always important, they are of limited scope given our consumer lifestyle that encourages the insatiable exhaustion of resources without respect to the consequences to our planet.

Project Green Light is a way to access the gateway of our community through the doorsteps of area congregations. Congregations, by their very nature, are constantly exploring their relationship to creation and our profound effect on our natural heritage. Therefore, it is only natural that congregations of faith play a critical role in helping the rest of the community realize lifestyle changes are essential to protecting our planet.

By establishing a friendly "competition" among congregations, organizations and committed individuals, Project Green Light hopes to rekindle our connection to the world we live in and balance our consumptive requirements with the needs of the rest of our planet's population.

By monitoring energy use and offering workshops and motivational opportunities, our community can come together to better protect our Nature's gifts. Since Project Green Light is being launched on a trial basis, there may be snafus and setbacks as we move forward. By working with your Earth Steward and ECO to correct these issues as they arise, we will all be more empowered to rise to the challenge that climate change, disappearing natural habitats and uncontrolled growth all pose to our planet.

We are grateful for your participation and your willingness to accept the challenge of greater energy conservation.

Sincerely,

David Weintraub
Executive Director
Environmental and Conservation Organization
greenlight@eco-wnc.org